Whitehall, November 23, 1776.

THE following Letter from Sir Guy Carleton was this Day received by Lord George Germain.

On Board the Maria off Crown Point, October 14, 1776.

MY LORD,

THE Rebel Fleet upon Lake Champlain has been intirely defeated in two Actions; the first on the 11th Instant, between the Island of Valcourt and the Main; and the second on the 13th, within a few Leagues of Crown Point.

We have taken Mr. Waterburg, the Second in Command, One of their Brigadier-Generals, with Two of their Vessels, and Ten others have been burnt and destroyed; only Three of Fifteen Sail, a List of which I transmit, having escaped. For farther Particulars I refer your Lordship to Lieutenant Dacres, who will be the Bearer of this Letter, and had a Share in both Actions, particularly the first, where his gallant Behaviour in the Carleton Schooner, which he commanded, distinguished him so much as to merit great Commendation; and I beg to recommend him to your Lordship's Notice and Favour: At the same Time I cannot omit taking Notice to your Lordship of the good Service done, in the first Action, by the spirited Conduct of a Number of Officers and Men of the Corps of Artillery, who served the Gun Boats, which, together with the Carleton, sustained for many Hours the whole Fire of the Enemy's Fleet, the rest of our Vessels not being able to work up near enough to join effectually in the Engagement.

The Rebels, upon the News reaching them of the Defeat of their Naval Force, set Fire to all the Buildings and Houses in and near Crown Point, and retired to Ticonderoga.

The Season is so far advanced, that I cannot yet pretend to inform your Lordship whether any Thing farther can be done this Year.

I am, &c.

GUY CARLETON.

Admiralty-Office, November 23, 1776.

LIEUTENANT Dacres, of the Royal Navy, arrived here early this Morning from Quebec, and brings the Letters and Accounts, of which the following are Copies.

Copy of a Letter from Capt. Douglas of the Isis, to Mr. Stephens, dated at Quebec, 21st October, 1776.

HAVING for the Space of Six Weeks attended the Naval Equipment for the important Expedition on Lake Champlain, I on the 4th Instant saw with unspeakable Joy, the reconstructed Ship, now called the Inflexible, and commanded by Lieutenant Schank, her Rebuilder, sail from St. John's, Twenty-eight Days after her Keel was laid towards the Place of Rendezvous; taking in her Eighteen Twelve-pounders beyond the Shoal, which is on this Side the Isle aux Noix, in her Way up.

The Prodigies of Labour which have been effected since the Rebels were driven out of Canada, in creating, re-creating, and equipping a Fleet of above Thirty Fighting Vessels of different Sorts and Sizes, and all carrying Cannon, since the Beginning of July, together with the Transporting over Land, and afterwards dragging up the Two Rapids of St. Terese and St. John's, Thirty Long-boats, the flat-bottomed Boats, a Gondola, weighing about Thirty Tons, and above Four hundred Battoes, almost exceed Belief. His Excellency the Commander in Chief of the Army, and all the other Generals, are of the Opinion, that the Sailors of His Majesty's Ships and Transports, have (far beyond the usual Limits of their Duty) exerted themselves to the utmost on this great and toilsome Occasion; nor has a Man of that Profession uttered a single Word expressive of Discontent, amidst all the Hardships they have undergone, so truly patriotic are the Motives by which they are actuated.—To crown the Whole, above Two hundred Prime Seamen of the Transports, impelled by a due Sense of their Country's Wrongs, did most generously engage themselves to serve in our Armed Vessels during the Expedition, and embarked embarked accordingly, ſuch having then been our unremitting Toils: I am happy beyond Expreſſion in hereby acquainting my Lords Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, that the Deſtruction of almoſt the Whole of the Rebel Fleet, in Two ſeveral Battles on the 11th and 13th Inſtant, is our Reward. I have received a Letter from Captain Pringle, of the Lord Howe Armed Ship, who commands the Officers and Seamen on the Lake, and who beſtows the higheſt Encomiums on their Behaviour in both Engagements. The Rebels did by no Means believe it poſſible for us to get upon Lake Champlain this Year; were much ſurprized at the Firſt Sight of the Van of our Force; but ran into immediate and utter Confuſion, the Moment a Three-maſted Ship made her Appearance, being a Phœnomenon they never ſo much as dreamt of. Thus have His Majeſty's faithful Subjects here (contrary to a crude but prevailing Idea) by ſtraining every Nerve in their Country's Cauſe, out done them in Working, as much as in Fighting. The Ship Inflexible, with the Maria and Carleton Schooners, all Reconſtructions, did the Whole of the Second Day's Buſineſs, the flat-bottomed Radeau called the Thunderer, and the Gondola called the Loyal Convert, with the Gun Boats, not having been able to keep up with them. The ſaid Gondola was taken from the Rebels the Day the Siege of Quebec was raiſed.——The Loſs we have ſuſtained, conſidering the great Superiority of the Inſurgents, is very ſmall, conſiſting of between Thirty and Forty Men killed and wounded, Seamen, Soldiers, Artillery-Men and all; Eight whereof were killed out-right, and Six wounded on Board of the Carleton. As to farther Particulars I muſt refer you to Lieutenant Dacres, who, in Juſtice due to his Merit, for the Part he bore in deſtroying the Rebel Fleet, I am happy in ſending upon this Occaſion to their Lordſhips in the Stag Tranſport, as alſo in thereby complying with the General's Deſire, who, for the ſame Reaſon, is pleaſed to honor him with the Conveyance of his Diſpatches.

Copy of a Letter from Captain Thomas Pringle, on Board the Maria off Crown Point, the 15*th of October*, 1776.

IT is with the greateſt Pleaſure that I embrace this Opportunity of congratulating their Lordſhips upon the Victory compleated the 13th of this Month, by His Majeſty's Fleet under my Command, upon Lake Champlain.

Upon the 11th I came up with the Rebel Fleet commanded by Benedict Arnold: They were at Anchor under the Iſland Valicour, and formed a ſtrong Line, extending from the Iſland to the Weſt Side of the Continent: The Wind was ſo unfavourable, that for a conſiderable Time nothing could be brought into Action with them; but the Gun-Boats, the Carleton Schooner, commanded by Mr. Dacres, (who brings their Lordſhips this) by much Perſeverance at laſt got to their Aſſiſtance; but as none of the other Veſſels of the Fleet could then get up, I did not think it by any Means adviſeable to continue ſo partial and unequal a Combat; conſequently, with the Approbation of his Excellency General Carleton, who did me the Honor of being on Board the Maria, I called off the Carleton and Gun Boats, and brought the whole Fleet to anchor in a Line as near as poſſible to the Rebels, that their Retreat might be cut off; which Purpoſe was however fruſtrated by the extreme Obſcurity of the Night; and in the Morning the Rebels had got a conſiderable Diſtance from us up the Lake.

Upon the 13th I again ſaw Eleven Sail of their Fleet making off to Crown Point, who, after a Chace of ſeven Hours, I came up with in the Maria, having the Carleton and Inflexible a ſmall Diſtance a-ſtern; the reſt of the Fleet almoſt out of Sight. The Action began at Twelve o'Clock, and laſted two Hours; at wich Time Arnold, in the Congreſs Galley, and five Gondolas, ran on Shore, and were directly abandoned and blown up by the Enemy, a Circumſtance they they were greatly favoured in, by the Wind being off Shore, and the Narrowneſs of the Lake. The Waſhington Galley ſtruck during the Action, and the reſt made their Eſcape to Ticonderoga.

The Killed and Wounded in His Majeſty's Fleet, including the Artillery in the Gun Boats, do not amount amount to Forty; but from every Information I have yet got, the Loſs of the Enemy muſt indeed be very conſiderable.

Many Particulars which their Lordſhips may wiſh to know I muſt at preſent take the Liberty of referring you to Mr. Dacres for; but as I am well convinced his Modeſty will not permit him to ſay how great a Share he had in this Victory, give me Leave to aſſure you, that during both Actions nothing could be more pointedly good than his Conduct. I muſt alſo do the Juſtice the Officers and Seamen of this Fleet merit, by ſaying that every Perſon under my Command exerted themſelves to act up to the Character of Britiſh Seamen.
